THE EDUCATIONAL FEVER

(Copyright, 1914.)

A chain has been added to the United States army equipment which enables the weakest soldier to lift great weights with one hand with the utmost ease. A man need only be able actually to lift eighty-two pounds in order, with the aid of this chain, to lift a ton; 180 pounds to lift some twenty tons. A strong man can lift nearly fifty times as much with his help as fifty men could without it.

The ponderous mass of tackle, ropes, skids, crowbars, rollers, and human muscle which were formerly employed in raising great weights are done away with by this little triplex and its kindred apparatus. There is also the magnet, which a boy can operate, which lifts enormous weights of iron and steel.

Now this is a good example of what an education seeks to do—to double, treble, and quadruple a man's power. The educated man who has found himself who is in a position to use all of his powers, ought to be able to do the work of many men without education. He has, as it were, the leverage of all previous generations with which to work.

It requires some scores of unthinking men with pick and shovel to do the work of one machine, planned and made by an educated and skilled mind which has applied itself to the problem of finding the best, wisest, and quickest way of doing things.

The one great weakness of our public school system is that our courses of study are too often headed toward the college, rather than toward practical life. They point toward an education in theories instead of pointing toward experience in life. College is not desirable for everyone. Every year a great army of practical workers are spoiled by trying to make clergymen, doctors, or lawyers of them. Oftentimes a splendid mechanic is made into a very poor preacher because he was educated for it, and he thought it would be a disgrace for a man with a college diploma to remain a mechanic.

The very fact that one has gone through a college course which is calculated to prepare for the professional life often turns the head of the graduate toward a life he is utterly unfitted for. Such misguided people are not only always inefficient and plod along forever in mediocrity, but they are unhappy as well because they can't but realize that they are out of place, they are going through life on their weakness instead of on their strength.

I know college graduates who always advise everybody to go to college. They say it is the only thing to do. Now a college course is a splendid thing for people who are by temperament and natural gifts to profit by it. But on the other hand, many youths are positively injured by it because their minds are turned in the direction which their ability does not function. They undertake things which their mentality does not fit. If our youth were taught that going to college does not necessarily mean adopting literary or professional work when they graduate, but that no matter what they are going to do, whether they are to remain on the farm or remain mechanics, it would still do them good to go to college, then there would be fewer round men in square holes, despite our faulty educational systems, and all education would prove a genuine lever to higher achievements. According to our present standards, many young men seem to think it a disgrace for a youth with a college diploma to go into an ordinary pursuit, and it is this false standard that plays havoc with so many graduates.

The whole meaning of a college education, however, is gradually changing, as during the last half century educational ideals have been almost revolutionized and very radically altered within the last twenty-five years. ## FORTY-ONE GET SCHOLARSHIPS.

Forty-one candidates were successful in the examination, held May 14, for Knights of Columbus graduate scholarships at the Catholic University. These scholarships were made possible by a gift of $500,000 to Cardinal Gibbons last January for the purpose of training in graduate work promising young students. The examinations were held in twenty-five State centers, and in each case were presided over by an official of the order. The successful students are free to pursue a course of three years' research work at the University leading to the degree doctor of philosophy. Each scholar is worth $600, with room, living and tuition.

A big reduction in the outstanding indebtedness of the District was made yesterday when the Commissioners decided to settle in full the balance of $164,746.25 the claim of the Government Hospital for the Insane for the care of District indigent patients during the years 1912 to 1911. The amount originally was $119,536.69, but $162,790.47 was paid last year.

MARSHALL CHEERED BY 200 BOY SCOUTS

Vice President Addresses Youngsters Who Are Organizing Camp in Randall Highlands.

ARTHUR C. MOSES ALSO SPEAKS

Vice President Marshall regaled about 200 Boy Scouts with a speech last night on the lawn of Col. Arthur E. Randall, at Randall Highlands. Col. Randall is organizing a Boy Scout movement in his neighborhood and final organization will be effected next Monday night.

The Vice President was introduced by A. C. Moses, president of the District Boy Scouts and great chief of Archibald Butt Camp, now camping at Chesapeake Beach. He said in part:

"The Boy Scout movement is a most excellent one for boys. They are naturally the most active animals alive, anyway. They do what they want and think as they please, too. The scout movement develops their minds along useful channels and makes of them a perfect working machine so that in after life they become useful men both in public and private life."

The boys cheered lustily and threw their hats in the air after the Vice President got through. Chief Scout Moses also spoke, saying:

"Those of you who are about to become Boy Scouts, and who are assuming a solemn responsibility, must learn to think. Not to think is more costly to the human family than any other sin of omission. A good scoutmaster will drill his boys into thinking before each and every action he takes with his head and his hand. This is all a Boy Scout can ever do, now as a boy, or when he grows into manhood. It is the total sum of any man's capacity. If he uses these faculties as they are intended."

"Being a Boy Scout is about as much good fun, perhaps a little more, than it is work, but I have never known a Boy Scout to say that work, which, mind you, he voluntarily assumes, picking out for himself just the class of work he wants to undertake. I have never yet heard a Boy Scout say that he did not consider his work thoroughly enjoyable."

SOME "FIRST" CANAL RECORDS.

Further details were obtained yesterday in regard to the plan for the opening of the Panama Canal to commerce on August 15. The Panama Railroad's ship Cristobal probably will be selected as the first commercial vessel to pass through the canal. The first train to go through the canal is Alfred Brown, an American, who sailed from Gatun Locks to Balboa a distance of thirty miles, on November 21 last. The first vessel to pass completely around South America by way of the Cape Horn route was the Reliance, which sailed from Colon February 11, 1912, voyaged 26,500 miles around South America, and returned to the Atlantic Ocean through Gatun Locks on February 1 last.

ROOSEVELT ASSAILANT WORSE.

Milwaukee, July 24.—John Schrank, who attempted to assassinate Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee in October, 1913, probably never will be tried on the charge of assault with intent to kill, according to Judge A. C. Gaskus, of the Municipal Court, who today received word from physicians of the criminally insane department of the State prison at Waupun that Schrank is daily growing worse from a mental standpoint.

The assault charges still stand against the prisoner, and he cannot be tried until he has been pronounced sane.

UNIONISTS FEAR ASQUITH HAS TRICKED THEM

London, July 24.—That they have again been outmaneuvered by the call for the home rule conference is the belief expressed by Unionists here. They believe that the initiative for the conference was taken by Asquith and not by King George. The premier's one object, they say, was to gain time and prevent a Provisional government in Ulster being constituted until after Parliament had adjourned, thus avoiding criticism and the possible defeat of division.

ATTACKS WATER POWER BILL.

Rainey Fines Some: Not Shots at Democratic Leader Underwood.

Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, in the House yesterday attacking the administration water power bill, accused Representative Underwood, Democrat, of Illinois, of having given everything in the State of Alabama away to the water-power trust. Rainey declared that all the water-power rights of the navigable streams in that State had been granted to the trust, and that Underwood and others were now proposing by the pending bill to give away the rights on the navigable streams. He asserted that a Canadian power company had control of 400,000 horsepower in Alabama.

"If there is any State in the Union that has shown its incapacity for government with regard to such matters as water-power franchises, it is the State of Alabama," said Rainey. Rainey announces his strong opposition to the bill. Representative Loneragan, of Connecticut, made a speech in support of the administration's water-power bill. He said 30,000 horsepower is going to waste each day at Enfield Rapids, on the Connecticut River.

"Capital to the amount of $5,000,000 is ready to develop these rapids as soon as the water-power bill becomes a law," said he. "Cheap electric power is demanded everywhere, that this nation may keep pace with the nations of Europe in electrical development. It must be admitted that Europe is ahead of us in the development of electric chemical industries. The present laws have caused practically a deadlock between capital and the government in the development of water power upon the rivers under the control of the United States."

STEEL EARNINGS INCREASE.

Earnings of $18,000,000 would show a deficit of about $1,000,000 for the three months after payment of the common dividend and of about $11,000,000 for the first half of the year.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR SUNDAY GAMES

Lincoln and Clarendon Clubs Clash in Elimination Series—Vigilants Play All-Stars.

Final arrangements have been completed for the games tomorrow at Andrews park, when the Lincoln team will meet the crack Clarendon Club in the preliminary game and the Vigilants clash with the All-Star Potomac League outfit. The first contest between the Clarendon team and the Lincoln is the second game of the second round of the elimination series for the independent championship of the District.

Manager McGrath, of the All-Star Potomac League outfit, has gathered together a likely looking club and with the following line-up he should make the Vigilants hustle for the long end of the score. Phipps and Varnstein as the battery; Fisher, Schofield, Carrico and Speith as infielders, and Steel, Poe, Zilkia and McGrath to pick the outfield.

Manager Oliver had not decided on his line up last night, but the followers of the game at Andrews park are sure to see a cracking good ball club on the field wearing the Vigilants colors.

STEAL GEMS AS CROWDS PASS.

Special to The Washington Herald. New York, July 24.—While hundreds of shoppers and others were passing the place, two robbers entered the pawnshop and jewelry store of H. P. Finner this afternoon and stole $2,500 worth of jewelry and diamonds, besides a sum in cash. The robbers timed their visit so that the proprietor's son would be alone in the store. After binding and gagging the man and threatening to shoot him, the bandits threw him under a counter, locked the door, and proceeded leisurely at their work. The robbers escaped.

MORE WHITE SLAVE CLEWS.

Special to The Washington Herald. New York, July 24.—The Federal authorities are investigating the white slave "ring," members of which are now being convicted at the rate of one a day by District Attorney Martin, of the Bronx. Clews to another and far more powerful aggregation of slaves in another jurisdiction have been found, and the Bronx prosecutions are only a prelude to a more extensive war against the traffic, it is said.
